

Sharing news at the EALRGA website

Jung-Sim Kim
EALRGA Web maintainer

EALRGAers should know there is a new “What’s New” tab at the EALRGA website. The first “What’s New” item comes from Melbourne.

Asian Libraries in Melbourne (ALIM) now has a joint exhibition as an ALIM project. Monash University Library is displaying Chinese Rare Books from the University of Melbourne’s Harry Simon Collection. The Baillieu Library at the University of Melbourne is displaying items from both Monash and Melbourne on the theme of Asian art and scripts. Both exhibits will be up until the end of March.

The screenshot shows the EALRGA website's 'What's New' section. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the following links: EALRGA COMMITTEE, EALRGA NEWSLETTER, LINKS TO RELATED SITES, and WHAT'S NEW. The main content area features a large image of a computer monitor displaying the Chinese character '知' (Zhi). To the right of this image is the title 'ALIM Joint Exhibition' with the dates '10 February to 28 March 2014'. Below the title, there are three columns of information:

- Monash University Library
Chinese Rare Books from the University of Melbourne Cultural Collections
Asian Studies Research Collection cabinet
Lower Ground Floor
Asian Studies Research Collection
Matheon Library, Clayton Campus
Monash University
- The University of Melbourne Library
Asian Arts
Ground Floor: Asian arts
3rd Floor: Asian script
Baillieu Library, Parkville Campus
The University of Melbourne
- Asian Arts
10 February - 28 March 2014
The first special issue from the Post-colonialities of the Melbourne and Monash University Library
Curated by: Jung-Sim Kim
Monash University Library, Clayton Campus
The University of Melbourne

At the bottom of the screenshot, there are logos for the University of Melbourne, Monash University, and ALIM.

<http://www.ealrga.org.au/whats-new.html>

If you would like to share any Asia-related news from your library or institute, please send it to me, the EALRGA Web maintainer.